

Ohio's Fall Foliage

Shawnee Fall Foliage Driving Tour – 66 miles

The Shawnee region provides incomparable scenery near the junction of two of the state's greatest rivers, the Ohio and the Scioto. Starting in the tiny and colorfully named hamlet of Omega, travel south on Route 335. The roads winds through dazzling scenery, and is swaddled in brilliant fall foliage. Hairpin turns and the abundance of wildlife make this an exhilarating journey. Take 335 into Sciotoville, and then take Route 52 for a short trek into Portsmouth. The town's floodwall murals are not to be missed, and its Boneyfiddle Historic District offers plenty of antique shops and restaurants to satisfy all appetites. Follow Route 52 west, right along the banks of the Ohio River. Just a few minutes out of Portsmouth, Ohio's largest state forest rises up. Shawnee State Forest has a stunning combination of craggy hills, towering trees and river views that will impress any leaf peeper.
